GOSSAMER WATER-PROOF CAPE.

THE MANUFACTURERS claim for the above new style of cape the following:
That they are perfectly water-proof.
That, if worn in the rain twenty four hours, they will not absorb any moisture, while the old style will nearly double its weight, and not keep the wearer dry, either.
That, when rolled-up, they are only seven inches long, and three inches in diameter, and can be carried in the pocket, while the old style is as large and cumbersome as a woolen shawl.
That, being so light-weight, and having no warmth, they are welcomed by all ladies for warm-weather use, or to throw over a winter cloak in cold weather.
That they are not affected by either cold or heat, neither will they become soft and useless with warm damp weather.
That all who have used the Gossamer Capes have expressed themselves perfectly satisfied with them.
That a lady, who has a Gossamer in her pocket, can leave the troublesome umbrella at home, and if the rain comes before she reaches shelter, with the Cape thrown over her, and the Hood over the bonnet, she is far better protected than she could be with the umbrella.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.
SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,
SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC,
SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS
Are the only medicines that will cure Pulmonary Consumption. Frequently medicines that stop a cough will occasion the death of the patient; they lock up the liver, stop the circulation of the blood, hemorrhage follows, and in fact, they clog the action of the very organs that caused the cough. Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia are the causes of two-thirds of the cases of Consumption. Many persons complain of a dull pain in the side, constipation, coated tongue, pain in the shoulder-blade, feelings of drowsiness and restlessness; the food lying heavily on the stomach, accompanied with acidity and belching up of wind. These symptoms usually originate from a disordered condition of the stomach or a torpid liver. Persons so affected, if they take one or two heavy colds, and if the cough in these cases be suddenly checked, will find the stomach and liver clogged, remaining torpid and inactive, and almost before they are aware the lungs are a mass of sores, and ulcerated, the result or which is death. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup is an expectorant which does not contain opium or anything calculated to check a cough suddenly. Schenck's Seaweed Tonic dissolves the food, mixes with the gastric juices of the stomach, aids digestion and creates a ravenous appetite. When the bowels are costive, skin sallow, or the symptoms otherwise of a bilious tendency, Schenck's Mandrake Pills are required. These medicines are prepared only by J. H. SCHENCK & SON,
N. E. corner Sixth and Arch streets, Phila,
And are for sale by all druggists and dealers.
Dr. Schenck will be at the Quincy House, Boston on the following Wednesdays: October 7th and 21st November 4th and 18th, and December 2d, 16th and 30th. oct8

PROTECTION.

The tax on tea and coffee comes nearer to a purely revenue tax then any other; that is to say, every dollar of it, less the cost of collection, is received by the Treasury. It is tax soley for the support of the Government. The Treasury does not share it with any person or corporation. A family purchasing in a year 100 pounds of coffee at 23 cents per pound will expend $23, of which $3 is tax, all of which goes into the Treasury. The same family expending for cotton to make sheets, pillo-cases, shirts, and other underclothing, $70, will pay $60 for the cotton and $20 tax, of which the Treasury will receive about $5, and the other $15 will be paid to the protected "partners" which Congress has authorized to share the tax.

A family expending during the year $920 for indispensable clothing and household goods will thus approximately divided that sum between the actual value of the goods and tax thereon:

Articles.	Value of goods	Tax.
Cotton goods	$ 50	$ 32
Woolen goods	125	75
Worsted goods	23	14
Carpets	120	72
Glassware	45	16
Crockeryware	32	12
Boots, Shoes, etc.	100	39
Millinery goods	80	48
Spool cotton	10	2
Pins and needles	5	1
Total	$617	$205

Here, then, out of a total expenditure of $920, in the articles we have named, the family pays $207 tax and $613 for the goods and of this tax not more than $10 to $50 is received by the United States, the rest falling to the share of the protected "partners" who are pensioned from this tax upon the whole people. Taxes levied on the principle of paying $1 to the Government and dividing four other dollars among special interests must necessarily be very high in order to raise enough revenue for the government. To raise $12,000,000 for the government under that mode of taxation requires a total tax of fifty or sixty millions of dollars; while a tax on tea and coffee, there being no partners to share it, is all revenue. To repeal the tax on cottons, woolens, etc., would repeal from $4 to $5 for each dollar of revenue lost: while to repeal the tax on tea and coffee is a total loss of revenue.—[Chicago Tribune.

CARELESS ENGLISH.—A lady and gentleman were crossing our meadow one cloudy day, when suddenly it began to rain.

"Wont you be kind enough to hoist my umbrella?" said the lady.

"Certainly," said the gentleman.

I was astonished at this, for if "wont" means anything at all it means will not; and therefore, according to my translation, the gentleman really has told the lady that certainly he would not be kind enough to hoist her umbralla!

But no. Even while he spoke he opened that useful article and held it gracefully over his companion.

"Thank you!" said she earnestly.

"Not at all," said he still more earnestly. And on they went.

"Why, the fellow flatly contradicted the lady," said I to myself. "How outrageous!"

But no, again, for they were on the best of terms, and the lady smiled sweetly at his words.

Yet the birds tell me that this sort of talk is quite usual among genteel human beings. —[From "Jack-in-the-Pulpit," St. Nicholas for January.

Insures against all forms of bodily injury induced by accidental means: such as dislocations, fractures, broken bones, ruptured tendons, bruises, cuts, stabs, gunshot wounds, crushing or mangling, burns and scalds, bites of mad dogs or serpents, unprovoked assaults by robbers or murderers, stroke of lightning or drowning &c.

The records of the years are filled with such accidents, and no doubt will be, so long as human carelessness exists. We are beset with them, from the cradle to the grave, and there is scarcely an individual who cannot refer, within the sphere of his own family or acquaintance, to some accident to which the indemnity offered by this company would have been a blessing worth much more than its cost.

Policies issued for long or short terms, payable for weekly payments, in case of disability, and for payment of the whole sum, in case of death.

The only company in the country that devotes itself wholly to accident insurance. THIS DAY.

Everything peaceful in New Orleans. Eighteen hundred soldiers keep it so.

Messrs. Almy, Milne & Co., of the Fall River News, have issued an elaborate calendar card for 1875. It is neatly printed in colors and gives a variety of information of much interest to the people of Fall River. The News is a good paper and the entire establishment is a credit to that city.

NECROLOGICAL.

The number of sudden and violent deaths in Newport, or of Newport people, during the year 1874 is 29. Of these, three were suicides, all by drowning. Four persons were drowned by accident, two by falling into docks, one by falling into a cistern and one in the creek on the Middletown line. Two deaths were from asphyxia, three from apoplexy, two from paralysis, one from hemorrhage of the lungs, two are directly attributable to liquor, three were from heart disease, one by falling down stairs, one by accidental shooting, one by intentional shooting, one by malpractice, and five deaths have no cause assigned. To these might be added the case of A. T. Zachos who has had a store here several Summers, and who committed suicide by shooting himself a few hours after marriage. Of these twenty nine deaths three occurred on the same day, January 21. Two occurred March 9, one each on July 8 and 9 and one each on September 13, 14 and 15.

It is also noticeable that during the year 1874 Newport lost several of her most prominent Summer residents. The death list includes the names of Messrs. W. S. Caldwell, William L. Dennis, Judge B. R. Curtis, Gardner Brewer, John Carter Brown and D. W. Holmes. Had Mr. Richard Baker, Jr., of Boston died one day earlier his name would also have been on the list for 1874.

THE SANDWICH ISLANDS.

THE SITUATION AND CHARACTER OF THE ISLANDS.—THEIR CLIMATE AND PRODUCTS.—THE POPULATION.—HONOLULU AND ITS HARBOR.—THE NAVAL STATION PROPOSITION.

The present visit of the ruler of the Hawaiian kingdom to the United States naturally invites in us a fresh interest concerning the remarkable group of islands forming his domain; hence a few facts about them may form a timely article.

The group lies north of the equator, just within the limits of the torrid zone, near the middle of the Pacific Ocean, far from any other land, about half the distance from San Francisco that they are from Canton in China, or Melbourne in Australia. They are ten in number, the largest, Hawaii, containing 4,000 square miles, and the smallest about sixty square miles. Together their area is a little less than that of Massachusetts, or between five and six times greater than that of Rhode Island. The group forms one of the grandest volcanic centres in the world, the largest craters known, both active and extinct, being found here. Indeed, the islands are but a vast mass of volcanic rocks fringed by coral reefs. Upon Hawaii are two volcanic peaks, each 14,000 feet in height. The islands in places present bold sea faces from 1,000 feet to 3,000 feet high. But there are valleys and plains of remarkable fertility and beauty. The disintegrated material from the mountain regions, as it is washed down by the abundant rains of the islands, forms a most productive soil, which, in this tropical climate, grows a great variety of luscious fruits and other valuable plants. The sugar cane, banana, plantain, cocoanut, various palms and the taro, are among the indigenous products. The latter is an arum, resembling in appearance our own arum triphyllum, "Jack in the pulpit," having a nutritious, succulent root, used by the natives as food, formerly more than now, and so fruitful is it that a spot forty feet square will grow enough of it to support one person.

Coffee grows luxuriantly, and equal in quality to the Mocha. This finds a ready market on the Pacific shores of American Brend fruit, tamarinds and limes also thrive well there. In short, the agricultural resources of the islands are sufficient to support millions of people and furnish large quantities of material for exportation besides.

The climate does not present that extreme of heat that continental lands in the same latitude do. It is very uniform and temperate. The natives having no occasion to speak of marked changes of weather, have no word for it. The extremes are from 53° to 90°. Cattle, horses and sheep, flourish upon the sweet grasses which grow there, and need no protection. Cattle and sheep are in demand for supplies for whalers and other vessels visiting the islands. Horses are great favorites with the natives; they will part with almost anything to obtain a horse that suits the fancy. The only quadrupeds originally found on these islands were a small species of hogs, dogs, and a kind of rat. There are no poisonous reptiles except the centipede, but birds of beautiful plumage are numerous.

But for all their natural advantages for the sustenance and residence of a dense population, there has been a steady decrease in numbers for many years. When the islands were discovered by the great navigator, Capt. Cook, in 1778, there were by his estimate, 400,000 people inhabiting the group. Other early navigators recorded a similar estimate. But during the present century the number has fallen to 69,000, the highest estimate we have seen for the present population being only 80,000. What are the causes of this decline is an interesting ethnological question. The islands have become essentially Christianized by the sacrificing labors of the American missionaries, chiefly, who began their work in 1820. Capt. Cook found the natives an inoffensive people, although somewhat addicted to cannibalism. He treated them cruelly and met his death there in consequence. They were heathen through and through, but received the truths of the Gospel readily when presented. It seems that they should increase in numbers and prosperity as well as advance in civilization. Their location is the "half-way house" between two great continents, between which commerce is rapidly increasing. The ports of this group are the most convenient of any for supply stations and place of rendezvous for the North Pacific whalers. All that can be raised upon their fertile fields, of coffee, sugar, molasses, rice, tobacco, indigo, silk, cocoa, ginger, etc., would meet a ready sale to merchant vessels visiting their ports. Cotton is easily raised and the vine flourishes well. The natives, however, are dwindling away, to give place, perhaps, to a hardier or more energetic race.

Honolulu is the principal port, situated at the southeastern point of the island Oahu. It is the largest and wealthiest town of the group, and is one of the best harbors in the Pacific Ocean. Two hundred ships can anchor there at once, a massive coral reef forming a sea wall of protection. The coral reef forms a valuable building stone, readily obtained at low tide, and easily wrought. This and other ports of the islands would form a valuable place of supply and refuge in time of peace for any nation traversing the Pacific waters, and would be an important military station in time of war. The acquisition of such a port is a thing strongly to tempt any commercial nation, and it is not to be wondered at that advocates for its annexation to the United States should press their views in Congress and elsewhere. The United States has, perhaps, a greater interest in the islands, on account of their geographical relation to the county, than any other nation, and no country could present stronger reasons than this for annexation. The friendly visit of King Kalakaua will probably revive the feeling in favor of the project which was advocated twenty years ago. Mr. Washburn, of Maine, was one of its friends and most able advocates. He then said, after expressing his disapprobation of the many schemes for territorial aggrandizement: "Yet, when a case occurs where it manifestly may be employed as a means to the noblest ends, and humanity demands it, and our national and domestic interests will be served by it, and justice waits upon it, I shall not hesitate to yield it the best advocacy of my mind, as it will compel that of my heart. * * * The question of annexation is one of necessity, of time and of justice."

However desirable or advisable it may be to negotiate for a port in this group for the protection and accommodation of our vessels on the Pacific seas, we do hope that it is not a part of our "manifest destiny" to assume the government, civilization and protection of groups of islands scattered in the seas, thousands of miles from our coasts, exposed to the war ships of every unfriendly nation on the globe.—[Providence Journal.

A STUPID WITNESS.

There is a point beyond which human forbearance cannot go, and the most even of tempers will become ruffled at times. At the assizes held during the past year at Lincoln, England, both judge and counsel had had much trouble to make the timid witnesses upon a trial speak sufficiently loud to be heard by the jury, and it is possible that the temper of the counsel may thereby have been turned aside from the even tenor of its way. After this gentleman had gone through the various stages of the bar pleading, and had coaxed, threatened and even bullied witnesses, there was called into the box a young ostler, who appeared to be simplicity personified.

"Now, sir," said the counsel, in a tone he would at any other time have denounced as vulgarly loud, "I hope we shall have no difficulty in making you speak up."

"I hope not, sir!" was shouted, or rather bellowed, out by the witness, in tones which almost shook the building, and would have certainly alarmed any timid or nervous lady.

"How dare you speak in that way, sir?" said the counsel.

"Please zur, I can't speak any louder, zur" said the astonished witness, attempting to shout louder than before, evidently thinking the fault to be his speaking too softly.

"Pray, have you been drinking this morning?" shouted the counsel, who had now thoroughly lost the last remnant of his temper.

"Yes, zur," was the reply.

"And what have you been drinking?"

"Corfee, zur."

"And what did you have in your coffee, sir?" shouted the exasperated counsel.

"A spoon, zur," was the answer, innocently spoken, amid the roars of the whole court—excepting only the now thoroughly wild counsel, who flung down his brief and rushed out of the court.

SPONGING ON NEWSPAPER MEN.—No profession or business is more beset by deadheads than the press, and probably the theatres come next in the list. Not a week passes but an editor is solicited to give this or that enterprise a favorable notice—one day a "few lines" are asked for in behalf of "our church;" the next an amateur dramatic society wants a "real nice notice, written in your best style;" another day John Smith calls and says he is about to open a gin mill (he calls it a sample room) and would like a "bang up" puff: then Rev. Dr. Dryasdust must have his sermons opened regularly; Rev. Dr. Mild desires a special mention made of his donation party; Miss Flora Flyaway drops in with a prettily written personal notice; Sam Simpkins wants his wife advertised because she has "left his bed and board;" and last, on publication day, when you are extra busy and have not a moment to spare, in pops the fellow who bores you, in spite of all your "gentle hints," for half an hour or more with a description of his patent apparatus for taking the sting out of bees, and which he would like to have noticed to the extent of half a column, "because it is of general interest to the public." That there is that class of deadheads, with which most of the country press is afflicted, composed of non-paying subscribers, a vast army of dead beats of the first water, who subscribe for every paper which will put their name on its list without pay, and they never mean to pay. There should be a radical reformation in this matter, the sooner it is accomplished the better it will be for the press, and we will call upon our brethren to use their utmost endeavors to squelch the deadheads. —[New York Era.

COURTESY AT MARKET RATES.—Courtesy has a market value. In one of our large hotels a young man has a very large salary as a room clerk. He has the faculty of stowing away people in all sorts of unmentionable places in his hotel and make the guests feel happy about it. His politeness and good humor never run amptings. Stout, of the Shoe and Leather Bank, is celebrated for his financial success and for his inexhaustible good nature. He is never so busy but he has a kind word for the humblest. When they are rushing things in the bank, Mr. Stout always finds time to say, "Take a seat, sir; I'll be at leisure in a moment." A man came into the bank the other day and opened an account. "I came here," he said, "not simply because I knew my money would be safe with you, but because you are always civil. I have been a depositor in Bank for many years. I went in today to see the cashier. I knew him when he had no society to brag of, and hardly money enough to pay for a dinner at a cheap restaurant. I laid my hat on the desk, which I suppose I had no business to do. He waved his hand with an imperious air, and said, 'Take that hat off.' I removed my hat, when he said, 'Now I'll hear what you have to say.' 'I've nothing to say to you.' I went to the bookkeeper, ordered my account made up, took the Bank's check for $12,000, and this I wish to deposit." The president and the cashier represent two styles of business common in New York. Sameness does not bear a high commercial value among the financial men of this city. —[New York Cor. MISS STANTON'S LECTURE.—There could hardly be a richer subject than that of Miss Kate Stanton on Thursday evening of this week,—"Uncrowned Sovereigns." They are a much more regal race than the crowned sovereigns, and they do much more for the government of the world. Indeed without them the world were not worth government. They supply the mental regency and the organizing power: they are the men who take great initiatives. Miss Stanton has lately spent two months with one of these high benefactors, at Guise in France, where Mr. Godin, at a cost of two or three millions of francs, has built and organized for his workmen and their families, fifteen hundred in all, what is literally, as he calls it, a social palace. This noble-hearted, clear-headed man offers the puzzled and alarmed capitalist a solution of the knotty problem of labor and capital. Go and hear Miss Stanton talk about him.

CONDUCT IN CHURCH.

To the Editor of the News:—

I wish that you would give what I think is greatly needed by some persons—advice on behaviour in church. It was my misfortune to sit near a group of three young ladies in one of our churches last sabbath afternoon, whose conduct during the service was the most unbecoming that I have ever witnessed. The sermon was one of peculiar interest to me but I could not enjoy it in the least for the young ladies (?) in front of me were continually laughing, or making fun of different persons to the extreme annoyance of all who were seated near them and in voices well calculated to disturb. It may be that the ladies did not intend for their remarks or actions to have been heard or noticed by any beside themselves, but I would advise all such persons to be very careful of their conduct in future. If they haven't the proper regard for the house of God let them by good behavior show respect to the feelings of all lovers of good order, and of

SLIPPING PREVENTIVES.

To the Editor of the Daily News:—

It is no stretch of charity to believe that citizens when placing coal ashes, sand, sawdust, etc., on the icy sidewalks in front of their dwellings, have in view the good and comfort of the many pedestrians who are constantly passing. But their kindness to themselves and to the travellers is lost when sawdust is used. Unlike coal ashes or sand, sawdust will not pierce the ice and the boot pressing upon it, thus holding the foot in its place; but will, under pressure, flatten, and so facilitate dislocation or breaking of the limbs, bumping heads and noses, and all other ills resulting from the failure to maintain the proper equilibrium.

Mr. William Allen's tumble was caused by sawdust. Hence the above.

There is nothing like dressing your local items in rhetorical finery, even if you do have to come to plain English at the end. See an example: an Oswego paper describes a fire by saying that "the red flames danced in the heavens, and flung their fiery arms about like a black funeral pall, until Sam Jones got upon the roof and doshed them out with a pail of water."

The brave talk by people not employed in banks, as to what they would have done if they had been in the place of the Milford cashier, reminds a Lowell cashier of the message from a landlord in Ireland to his agent: "Tell the tenants that no threats to shoot you will intimidate me in the least."

A ministerial believer in woman's rights, having preached a telling sermon on "Woman," was met shortly after by a lady who enthusiastically exclaimed, "O, Mr.——, we have been talking about your sermon, and want the privilege of putting up a monument to you!" The minister thinks it possible that a compliment was intended, but he has never preached that sermon since.

Long ago, during the Millerite fever, when ascension robes were in order and all were listening for the chariot wheels, a good couple had retired one night—the man somewhat visionary, but his wife practical enough. In the ebb of a mid Winter night he awoke, hearing a slight noise, and gently nudged his sleeping partner. "Wife, I hear the chariot wheels of God." "Lie still, John, you old fool. The Lord would not come on wheels, with such good sleighing."

The editor of the Rome (N. Y.) Sentinel has been shown "a design for an upholstered front gate, which seems destined to become very popular. The foot-board is cushioned, and there is a warm soap-stone on each side, the inside step being adjustable, so that a short girl can bring her lips to the line of any given moustache without trouble. If the gate is occupied at 10:30 P. M., an iron hand extends from one gate post, takes the young man by the left ear, turns him around and he is at once started home by a steel foot.

When they want to find out in the country if a girl is courting or not, an old lady steps in and remarks: "I say, there ain't no one sick in this here house or nothin', is there? I see a light burnin' nigh on to twelve o'clock last night; but I don't smell no camphor nor nothin' round."

A man took a seat on the head of an empty flour barrel on Michigan Grand avenue, Saturday, and remarked, "I got down the gun and loaded her up heavy, and just as I was—" At this point the head fell in and the man, or about half of him, disappeared, while his legs loomed up like schooner's masts. He was helped out and a boy hired to rub sweet oil on his back, but in spite of the earnest entreaties of the crowd he would not go on with the story.

It is told of the late Judge Benjamin Tappan, of Ohio, that when he applied to the judges of the supreme court for admission to the bar of that state, he asked the following questions, to which he gave the answers as follows: "Mr. Tappan, what is law?" Answer—"An unjust distribution of justice." "Mr. Tappan, what is equity?" Answer—"An unjust distribution of justice." "Mr. Tappan, what is equity?" Answer—"An imposition upon common sense!" No other questions were asked, and he was given a certificate of admission.

An old man up in Connecticut had a poor, cranky bit of a wife who regularly once a week got up in the night and invited the family to see her die. She gave away her things, spoke her last words, made her peace with Heaven, and then about night she got up in the usual way and disappointed everybody by going at her household duties as if nothing had happened. The old man got sick of it finally, and went out and got a coffin, a real nice cashmere shroud, a wreath of immortelles with "Farewell, Mary Ann," worked in, and a handful of silver-plated screws. Laying the screw-driver beside the collection, he invited her to just holler die once more. "Do it," said he, "and in you go, and this farewell business is over." Mary Ann is at this moment baking buckwheat cakes, for a large and admiring family, while they dry apples in the coffin up in the garret.

THE HABITS OF PREHISTORIC MAN ILLUSTRATED BY LIVING RACES.—Some of the islands in southern oceans are the homes of races which exhibit remarkable relationships to the inhabitants of a distant continent, and none at all with the people of a neighboring mainland. Thus the Mincopies, living on islands in the Bay of Bengal, show in their language a relationship with the distant Mon or Peguans, rather than with the neighboring Andamanese. This anomaly is explained by geological evidence. The islands they inhabit are really older than the mainland near them, and they are an older people than their immediate neighbors. It is characteristic of these remnants of primitive races to fight with brute ferocity against every effort to raise their condition. "Such hostility, hatred, and dread," says Owen, "can only be compared with that which the brute species in a state of nature entertain toward man. An island of quadrumana would conduct themselves, to the extent of their destructive and repellent faculties, in like fashion toward biped immigrants." In some of their habits these island races give remarkable confirmation to the reality of the remains of prehistoric man which are found in Europe. Thus, in the Andaman islands are shell mounds which "exemplify the grade and mode of existence of stone-weaponed humanity at this day; identical with that of the accumulators of 'kitching middens' in the north of Europe in prehistoric times." HOW A LAWYER'S TEARS CONVERTED A JURY.—Sheariman—Jim Fisk's old lawyer, who managed his railroad iniquities for him, and now Brother Beecher's chief spokesman—became terribly affected in court, one day last week, when referring to Henry Ward, and wept. This reminds us of an incident in the professional life of Origen S. Seymour, late chief judge of the supreme court. Mr. Seymour's eyes have always been weak. In college his friends usually read over the exercises to him. He has had to employ assistants as amanuenses, readers, etc., ever since. One day Mr. Seymour went into court late, to argue a case, with the details of which he was perfectly familiar, for a young lawyer who conducted the examination. The jury was composed of men who were unacquainted with Mr. Seymour. During the close of his argument he spoke mildly, as was his wont, and frequently wiped his tearful eyes with his handkerchief. The facts and equity of the case were really against him—but the jury rendered a verdict in favor of his client, to his and everybody's astonishment. The solution of the mysterywas reached when two of the jurymen, being taken to do for their absurd verdict, declared that they "didn't know nothin' about law, but nobody needn't tell them that Seymour wasn't right. No man could 'blubber' so as he did if he wasn't right, and he knew all about the case!" This was found to have been the bias with the rest of the jury, too, except one man, who yielded because, as he said, "it was no use to quarrel with the d—d fools, Seymour cried it into 'em so that they couldn't be stirred, and the case wasn't important enough to split on."—[Winstead (Ct.) Press.

POTATO WATER.—Some journalistic medicaster has promulgated a domestic recipe which the provincial press generally is repeating, setting forth that for all calculous disorders a certain cure may be obtained by drinking for two or three weeks "the water in which potatoes have been boiled to pieces." Innocent as this prescription sounds, it is a marked example of the amateur recklessness which is perpetually advising unlimited doses of substances in utter ignorance of their poisonous properties. The potato, like all its congeners of the solanaceæ, contains an active principle known as solanine, which is an acro-narcotic poison. This alkaloid, though chiefly resident in the stalks and leaves of the plant, is also present in small quantities in the tuber, from which it is completely extracted by the water in which the vegetable is boiled. Hence, in the absence of any definite instructions as to the relative proportions of potatoes and water in the foregoing formula, it is quite possible to produce a dangerously strong decoction of solanine, the free use of which would imperil life. Indeed, cases of accidental poisoning from drinking potato-water are of not unfrequent occurrence. And yet the people who oftenest swallow unsuspectingly such nostrums are the very ones to take alarm if a physician prescribe, in fixed doses which he knows to be harmless, the potent alkaloids which they dispense ad libitum from kitchen laboratories.

TOUGH BEAR STORY.—The following rather tough bear story was told in my hearing by an old settler in Russia River Valley. I give it as I got it:

"You talk about bears! Why, when I first came to Rooshan river, bears were plentier than cattle is now, and they was a little bit the smartest bears that I or anybody else ever seen. Why, do you know, there was a neighbor of mine had a fine lot of hogs. In the fall, when the corn began to get ripe, the bears would come into the field and make awful work among the corn. They was jest literally cleanin' it out, and the hogs was a despearin' too, and the old fellow couldn't find where the bears had killed any hogs, and he was clean beat out. At last when his hogs had disappeared, he thought it was about time to investigate. So he started out.

After hunting around for some time, he found a trail leading from the cornfield in the direction of a patch of timber about three miles away. He followed the trail, and when he got to the timber he discovered his hogs nicely inclosed in a pen [corral], and the bears pickin' the corn out of their jaws, and feedin' them for their own eatin' for their Winter meat."—[Harper's Magazine.

BEYOND VALUATION.

The worth of any invention which obviates or mitigates the loss of any of the natural senses cannot be measured by dollars and cents. Of this character are the "Diamond Spectacles" manufactured by the Spencer Optical Manufacturing Company of New York, and sold by their agents throughout the country. These goods are scientifically made from the best possible material and have been proved to be of the greatest possible service to those who would prevent the loss of eyesight, or restore the clearness of vision which has already been impaired. Messrs. H. A. Heath & Co., are agents for the manufacturers in this city.

NO EXCUSE FOR BEING SICK.

☞No person can use Boschee's German syrup without getting immediate relief and cure. We have the first case of Coughs, Colds or consumption, or any disease of the Throat and Lungs, yet to hear from that has not been cured. No other Manufacturer of Medicine ever gave their Preparations such a test as this. Go to your Druggist James H. Taylor and get a sample bottle for 10 cents and try it—two doses will relieve you.

It has become potent to the world that there is no medical practitioner of eminence who has failed to recognize the immense value as a curative agent of Hunt's Remedy. This invaluable preparation has attained a wide spreading popularity from the extraordinary triumph it has achieved over Kidney, bladder and glandular diseases, whether chronic or otherwise, gravel, diabetes, errors of youth, excesses, and all complaints of the urino-genital organs in either sex speedily disappear by its use.

Reliable Testimony.

It cannot be reasonably supposed that when a person testifies to the efficacy of a remedy whose benefits he has experienced, without solicitation, that he does so for the purpose of misleading the public, or from any other motive than that of gratitude. It is still more unreasonable to suppose that eminent physicians would corroborate the evidence thus given unless they were persuaded of its truth. The proprietors of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are constantly in the receipt of voluntary testimonials acknowledging the curative and preventive potency of this beneficent tonic and corrective, emanating not only from those who have felt its influence, but also from well known members of the medical profession, both here and abroad, who have witnessed its effects, and prescribed it in their private practice. In the face of such evidence as this, to which the widest publicity has repeatedly been given, it would be absurd to question the medicinal virtues of the Bitters. Skepticism upon this point was long ago disarmed, and they are today as much respected and far more widely known than many of the official remedies which figure conspicuously in the pharmacopœia. They are universally recognized to be the supreme remedy for intermittent and remittent fevers, dyspepsia, liver complaint, general debility, disorders of the bowels and nervousness, as well as a means of fortifying the system against malarious influences and those which operate injuriously upon the sensitive organs. Whether used as a remedy for actual disease, as a means of building up the broken down physique, or of hastening convalescence, they are never resorted to in vain, and they often restore complete health when prescribed remedies cannot even initiate its recovery.

It is useless to attempt to cleanse a stream while the fountain is impure. Dyspepsia, complaints of the liver or kidneys, eruptions of the skin, scrofula, headaches, and all diseases arising from impure blood are at once removed by Dr. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS, purifier of the blood, and renovator of the system. It has never been known to fail.

GENERAL NEWS.

WASHINGTON.

The Relations of the United States with Spain.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.

Secretary Fish had a long interview with the President on Saturday, at which our relations with Spain, arising out of the Virginius troubles, were discussed. It is stated as a result of the conference that the President, who has long been restive under the policy of the state department, has decided upon a vigorous and decisive course with respect to the Virginius indemnity. Our demands under the protocol which was made with Admiral Polo, while presented in a dignified and firm manner, were not prosecuted with such vigor as they now will be, the necessity for moral support to Spain having been removed by the restoration of the monarchy. It is thought the acts of the late republic in Spain, in so far as they relate to the Virginius indemnity, will be recognized by the new government, and reparation, so far as money can atone for our grievances, will very soon be made. A member of the House foreign affairs committee has publicly stated that the time has come for this nation to assume a more aggressive policy.

The Latest Financial Measure.

It is apparent that the friends of the new finance bill have made diligent use of their time since the adjournment to secure the passage of the measure by the House. That there will be strenuous opposition to its passage there is no doubt, but the almost universal opinion here tonight is, that the bill will be passed as it came from the Senate. General Spinner has written a letter to a friend, giving his objections to it, one of which is, that no provision is made to compel national banks to resume specie payments when the government resumes. When the day for resumption arrives, he asserts that banks may, with impunity, refuse to redeem their notes, throwing their entire weight on the government and necessitating suspension again.

The Alleged Corruption in the Department of Justice.

At the request of the committee on expenditures in the department of justice, the contingent expense account of the department to the present date will be submitted at once to the committee. The contingent fund for the current year is only $16,000, of which a little over $14,000 has been expended. A large proportion of the fund is used for law books, stationery and telegraphic despatches, these items amounting to about $3000, $2500 and $1500, respectively. It is in this account that some suspicious members on the Democratic side expect to find evidences of corruption, and its appearance is waited with lively curiosity.

The New Spanish Government.—Instructions sent to Minister Cushing.

Instructions have already been sent to Minister Cushing at Madrid regarding the course to be pursued by the government in the event of Alfonzo successfully establishing himself as king. When this is accomplished, Minister Cushing will recognize the new government.

FROM NEW YORK.

The Beecher Trial.—A Legal Skirmish in the Courts Yesterday.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.

The case of Tilton vs. Beecher was called in the Brooklyn city court before Judge McCue this forenoon. Beecher and counsel were present, but Tilton's lawyers did not put in an appearance. Counsel for defendant urged that their case go on at once, as counsel had a case in the supreme court in which Mr. Beecher was peculiarly interested. Judge McCue finally determined to call the calendar in regular order, and directed that a jury be sworn in the case which was next before that of Mr. Beecher. In the afternoon there was quite a legal skirmish, the defence working to have the trial declared "on" by Judge McCue, so that he should try it. In this they succeeded, but, according to McCue's own statement, he has the power to send it before another judge, and it is believed he will relegate it to Chief Justice Neilson tomorrow. The defence it is stated will, however, then present affidavits alleging reasons why the case should be tried before McCue, but unless they are very strong, the case will go before Judge Neilson.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Situation at New Orleans Monday Morning.—The Troops and Police in Position.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 4.

At this hour, 8 A. M., the United States troops are taking a position covering the state house. A regiment of infantry, in two columns, at parade rest, extends from Chartres street, on St. Louis street, to the levee, the Metropolitans being placed in position to prevent the near approach of the public to the state house. A squad of them at Chartres street, on St. Louis street, refused to allow persons to pass out of St. Louis street, stating that only members of the legislature or state officers would be allowed to go by. Eighteen hundred United States troops will be in position to sustain the state government.

Affairs at the State House.

All the doors of the State House are barricaded except one. Lines of Metropolitans prevent persons passing on St. Louis street from Royal to Chartres, only reporters, members of the legislature, and state officers being admitted. Superior officers, however, admit such persons as they desire. Both parties are in caucus in the state house. All the contestants are admitted. The Republican members claim fifty members present this morning. More than forty remained in the state house during the night.

The streets in the vicinity are crowded, and hundreds gathered on the corners. R. H. Marr was refused admittance by the police and ex-Governor Hymns, after passing the Metropolitans, was refused admittance to the state house by the sergeant-at-arms, who is in charge of the door. Indiscreet persons may precipitate a row, but the indications are that no disturbance of a serious character will occur.

Organization Effected.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 4. Noon.

The members have assembled in the hall of the House, and are the most orderly body of legislators, so far, that has assembled in Louisiana for many years. Foster and Philips, of the Congressional committee, have just entered the hall, and are seated near the reporters' desk, declining seats on the platform.

The chief clerk called the house to order, and proceeded to call the roll. After finishing and announcing that there were one hundred and two members present and a quorum, a motion was immediately made that L. A. Wiltz, of Orleans, be made temporary chairman, and Mr. Wiltz immediately took the chair.

Here the utmost confusion prevailed.

The speaker appointed a sergeant-at-arms and temporary clerk. Several motions were made, and the confusion increased, about fifty members yelling at the top of their voices. Finally order was restored, and the chairman made a speech, stating he would treat all members alike, of whatever party or color.

Col. Lowell protested against the manner of the temporary organization.

Speaker Wiltz replied that the manner of organization was identical with that of 1868, in which Col. Lowell participated.

Five members not returned by the board were declared by resolution members of the House, and took their seats.

Governor Kellogg's Message.—A Healthy Financial Showing.

Governor Kellogg's message to the legislature thanks the citizens of other states, notably of Massachusetts, and the general government, for aid in the season of the overflow. He says in the year just ended the receipts have been nearly equal to the expenses. The rate of state and city taxation has been largely reduced, and for the first time for many years not one dollar has been added to the public debt, which on the contrary has been sensibly reduced.

VALUABLE INFORMATION.

BOSTON, Dec. 12, 1869.

Gentlemen—My only object in giving you this testimonial is to spread valuable information. Having been badly afflicted with Salt Rheum, and the whole surface of my skin being covered with pimples and eruptions, many of which caused me great pain and annoyance, and knowing it to be a blood disease, I took many of the advertised blood preparations, among which was any quantity of Sarsaparilla, without obtaining any benefit until I commenced talking the VEGETINE, and before I had completed the first bottle I saw that I had got the right medicine. Consequently, I followed on with it until I had taken seven bottles, when I was pronounced a well man, and my skin is smooth and entirely free from pimples and eruptions. I have never enjoyed so good health before, and I attribute it all to the use of VEGETINE. To benefit those afflicted with Rheumatism, I will make mention also of the VEGETINE'S wonderful power of curing me of this acute complaint, of which I have suffered so intensely.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 5, 1875.

RECEIPTS.

To Clean Zinc.—Dip a cloth in soft soap and rub it all over the zinc: after remaining on a few minutes, wash off and the zinc looks fresh and clean.

Sweet Brown Bread.—Take one quart of ryeflour, two quarts of coarse cornmeal, one pint of wheatmeal all of which must be very fresh, one half teacupful of molasses or brown sugar, one gill of potato yeast. Mingle the ingredients into as stiff a dough as can be stirred with a spoon, using warm water for wetting: let it rise several hours, or over night; then put in a large deep pan, and bake five or six hours.

English Breakfast Rolls. Roll one quarter pound of butter into one pound of flour; then add one tablespoonful of good yeast, and break in one egg. Mix it with a little warm milk poured into the middle of the flour: stir all well together, and set it by the fire to rise: then make it into light dough, and again set it by the fire. Make up the rolls, lay them on a tin, and set them into the oven, and brush them over with egg.

Lemon Pie.—For four pies To twelve eggs, whites and yelks well beaten together, put four teacupfuls and eight level tablespoonfuls of white coffee sugar: rub eight tablespoonfuls of sifted flour into one teacupful of cold water; add the grated rind, and the juice of six large lemons; mix all together and bake immediately in one crust. For each pie, beat until stiff the whites of two eggs; and two tablespoonfuls of nice sugar: put on this frosting and bake three minutes.

Buns. Three cups of warm milk, one cup of sugar; half a cup of yeast: in the morning, if very light, add one cup of sugar, one cup of butter, knead stiff and let it rise again: then cut into small pieces and roll in the hand. Put into pans just touching each other, let it rise again, rub with the white of eggs and bake to a light brown. This quantity makes sixty buns. Currants or raisins improve them. These are much better than baker's buns.

Apple Jelly.—Cut your apples in quarters (do not pare or core them), dip each quarter into clear water, and put them into a jar to cook in the oven until quite tender: then strain the juice as usual, and boil with a pound of sugar to a pint of the juice. The most delicious jelly will be the result, with the full, pure flavor of the apple lightened by the cores having been left in and not spoilt by the objectionable addition of lemon peel and juice.

Baked Indian Pudding.—Two quarts sweet milk, one cup Indian meal, half cup molasses and sugar, salt, two eggs, a little nutmeg and ginger. Beat all the ingredients, excepting the milk, well together, pour the milk on them, boiling hot, and stir thoroughly together. Pour the mixture into a buttered earthern pudding-pot, and bake moderately three hours, stirring frequently the first hour. If allowed to stand an hour in a warm oven after it is done, it will improve it. Eat with butter or milk and sugar.

To Preserve Quinces.—Take a peck of quinces. Pare and cut each one into six pieces: divide them and put half of these into two quarts of boiling water, and let them boil till tender. Then lift them out and put the other lot into hot water. Take out these, and then strain all the juice back into the kettle. Add six teacups white sugar to that juice and skins and boil till the sugar is dissolved. Then put all the quince back and stir until done: sometimes half an hour. They should be stirred or turned with the skimmer, and should be a nice pink when done, and clear. Use ripe quinces. Let cool and tie up with brandied paper. Do pears the same way, only they require less sugar and not so long doing.

To Heal Corn.—Put into an iron kettle three quarts clean wood ashes: fill the kettle with boiling water and boil an hour: then take it from the fire and let it stand until cold: then pour off the lye and boil the corn in it until the hulls begin to come off: then rub and wash thoroughly. Three or four times and boil until very tender: it may be made in large quantities, and then take a small portion and put it in the frying-pan and add one pint of milk, when it boils mash fine and add butter, salt and pepper, if preferred, warm in milk and add salt without washing it.

Green Vinegar.—Take a quantity of common Irish potatoes, wash them until they are thoroughly clean, place them in a large vessel and boil them until done. Drain off carefully the water that they were cooked in, straining it, if necessary, in order to remove every particle of the potato. Then put this potato water in a jug or keg, which set near the stove, or in some place where it will be kept warm, and add one pound of sugar to about two and a half gallons of the water, some hop yeast or a small portion of whiskey. Let it stand three or four weeks, and you will have excellent vinegar, and at a cost of six or seven cents per gallon.

To Stuff Mangoes.—After cutting a slit lengthwise in young, green melons, take out the seed with a spoon, and fill up the mango with ingredients thus prepared: Two heads of cabbage sliced very thin (scalded in a strong brine and dried a few hours), two ounces of mace in the blade, two ounces of whole cloves, two ounces of round black pepper, a few long white peppers, half a pound of sliced green ginger, half a pound of white mustard seed, and one dozen red or green peppers cut up in rings; moisten the whole with a pint of sweet oil. Fill the mangoes and tie them up with thread to keep in the ingredients. If objected to, you may dispense with the use of sweet oil.

Corn Husk Frames.—Corn husk frames may be made very prettily and simply by taking pasteboard or thick paper to sew the husks on. Then select your husks: take fine white ones, but not the finest. Take a husk and cut into strips three quarters of an inch wide and three inches long. Then double it together in a bow as in tape trimming. Put two rows of these around the inside of the frame. Next cut a piece the length of the bows and the width of the husks and bend the two ends together. Now take your needle and slit it very fine through the center, and then sew the two ends that you hold in your hand on the frame overlapping the row of bows. Then take some more pieces of slitted work and turn and go lengthwise of the frame not crosswise as before. That forms the outer edge of the frame. Take a thin piece of board and make a frame. Place your glass between your paper frame and your board frame, and tack or paste your paper frame down smoothly. You will thus have a nice rustic frame. Beautiful little card baskets and lamp mats may be made in nearly the same manner.

Boiled Fancy Pudding. Take enough flour for a crust; add dry to the flour a little salt and saleratus made fine; wet with sour cream; roll the crust, and line the inside of a buttered bowl; put in a layer of any kind of fruit or preserves (I prefer preserved currants); then cover the fruit alternately, until the bowl is full; cover the top with a crust, press tightly the edge, tie it in a cloth, then plunge it in boiling water and boil two hours. If more water is needed, replenish with boiling water, as it should be covered with it and constantly boiling, if a light dry crust is desired. It should be frequently turned to prevent it from sticking to the kettle. When done, run a knife around the sides of the bowl, that it may turn out whole. Serve hot with sweet cream.

General Directions for Preserving.—Pickles may be made at any time during the Winter or Spring, provided that you have ready cucumbers, grapes, or even peaches, which, having been gathered fresh during their season, were put in a strong brine, and kept well there under the pressure of weights, so as not to be exposed to the air. When you take the vegetables or fruit out of brine soak for a day or two in cold water. Then put them over the fire in a kettle, covering them with weak vinegar. Let them gently simmer until parboiled, or rather louder, but by all means guard against letting them cook until soft. Cucumbers are ruined by long cooking, which destroys their crispness, and renders them almost inedible. Let them remain in this vinegar until you are ready to supply the final seasoning and strong cider vinegar, needed for the preparation of all kinds of pickles. A delay of a week will do no harm, although the process may be completed forthwith if you prefer. The horse-radish used in pickles must be scraped and dried; the garlic must be soaked from three to ten days, changing the water once or twice a day; the mustard seed bruised; spices are put in without any preparation. When onions are used, they merely need to be sliced and scalded.

CERTIFICATE OF MR. JOHN CASWELL,

Newport, R. I., Dec. 12, 1874.

To the Editor of News:—I wish to recommend Dr. Carpenter's treatment to such of the community as have Scrofula. I inherited it, and it has always run in my blood, and last Fall it became terrible, injuring my health, and attacking my head and face particularly and so disfigured me that a neighbor that met me did not know me until I spoke to him. I applied to Dr. Carpenter, at the Perry House, and his medicines have met with gratifying success. My health is now good, have very little trouble with the humor, face looks natural, and I hope with a little more treatment, to eradicate the poisonous humor from my system entirely. I reside in Middletown.

JOHN CASWELL.

Catarrh and Polypus.

Home Testimony.

Newport, R. I., Nov. 6th, 1874.

This is to proclaim what Dr. Carpenter has done for me. I suffered from Catarrh 40 years, and the last 10 years my nasal passages were filled with Polypus. I employed physicians from time to time, and two years ago, went to Boston, and was declared there three months, and left off worse than I began, and I was almost discouraged. But I felt that I must do something, for I was obliged to keep my mouth open and my health was becoming impaired. So I went to Fall River last Spring, and placed myself under the care of Dr. Carpenter. His treatment proved highly satisfactory. He removed and cured the Polypus, I can breathe naturally, the Catarrh troubles me very little and altogether I am comfortable and as well as a man 60 years of age, can expect to be, and I hope this testimony may be the means of securing relief to other sufferers. I reside in Middletown.

ASA PECKHAM.

Permanent Cures of Scrofulous Catarrh.

Testimony of a Citizen of Newport.

My son and daughter were cured of cases of Scrofulous Catarrh from birth, and with discharges, swellings upon their necks, and an utter inability to breathe through the nose, they were uncomfortable enough, when we placed them under the care of Dr. Carpenter in 1865. His remedies cured them in a few months and they remain well to this day. I publish this with the hope it may be the means of securing relief to others.

Fancy Fall River Navies.

Fall River, Jan. 22, 1874.

W. H. Carpenter, M. D.,—My Dear Sir:—Allow me thus publicly to express my gratitude for the great benefit conferred upon me by your treatment. I was afflicted for years with Catarrh which had become a constant torment to me, the irritation and inflammation having increased until ulceration was the consequence. Your treatment has been attended with the happiest results, I am now comfortable, my head feels well, and I believe myself cured of that terrible disease. JOHN BEATTIE, Jr.

Mr. Beattie is of the well-known Firm of Wm. & J. Beattie, Jr., Granite Dealers and Contractors, 2 Quarry street.

DEAFNESS CURED.

Statement of a Resident of Fall River.

This certifies that Dr. Carpenter, at the Mount Hope House, has cured my Deafness and Discharges of the Ear of many years' standing. When I applied to Dr. C., I could not hear noises addressed close to my ear, and was fatally unfit for business. A course of Dr. C.'s treatment has cured the discharges, and restored my hearing so that I can hear the tick of a watch a foot from my ear, and ordinary conversation without difficulty. My friends are more than pleased, for they did not think I could be cured, as I had been treated by several doctors and received no benefit.—As my acquaintance in Fall River is not large I will refer to Mr. Geo. E. Buffington, No. 57 Pleasant street, who is well known and conversant with all the facts of the case. GEO. G. HANLON,
45 Second street.

Fall River, Oct. 1.

A CARD FROM WALTER SCOTT, Esq.,

EDITOR OF BORDER CITY HERALD, OF FALL RIVER.

I have known Dr. Carpenter since he commenced practice in this city, and I am satisfied that he is a skillful physician and has been successful in the treatment of a great majority of the cases in which he has been consulted. Of my own personal knowledge, I have reason to testify that quite a number of the individuals cured were nearly hopeless in their condition; some almost blind, others deaf, and others laboring under Bronchial and Catarrhal affections, and I have seen the same persons restored under his treatment to their normal state of health. I therefore, knowing these things, without hesitation recommend him to persons suffering from the maladies he has made his special study for years. WALTER SCOTT.

VOICE RESTORED.

TESTIMONY OF MISS GARDNER.

(From Fall River News.)

Dr. Carpenter:—Dear Sir,—My thanks and gratitude are yours. When we consulted you last April, I was miserable indeed; I had lost both my health and my voice, and for two and a half years I could only whisper faintly. I had been doctored so much that we had little faith in the ability of any physician to restore me, but your treatment has performed a cure. I can talk aloud, and my health is good, better than for years. You may publish this if you wish; and as I do not reside in Fall River, I will refer to Mr. Wm. H. Mason, No. 44 North Main street, and Mr. and Mrs. Mason Rounds, No. 61 Durfee street, with whom I resided during treatment. Respectfully yours,

MISS HATTIE GARDNER.

Swansea, Mass., Sept. 16, 1874.

Scrofula and St. Vitus Dance Cured.

(From Fall River Herald.)

When we heard our daughter Lilen to Dr. Carpenter last May, at the Mount Hope House, she was in a terrible condition from Scrofula and St. Vitus Dance, and was not willing to go among folks, for her limbs jerked and twitched so she had not much control over them, but through Dr. Carpenter's skill she has been restored and is now well. We want this cure known, for some of our acquaintances have taken their children to Europe for treatment, thinking they could not be cured in this country. This case is well known by our neighbors. GEORGE HEAP,
White Block, Border City Mills.

(From Fall River News.)

Fall River, May 27, 1871.

To my Friends and the Public:

It affords me great satisfaction to be able to testify to the success of Dr. Carpenter in the treatment of my Ears, which were a source of trouble and annoyance to me more than twenty years. Dr. C.'s treatment restored them, and they have been well several months. I have great confidence in Dr. Carpenter's skill and success in practice, and do not hesitate to recommend him.

Catarrh and Blindness.

(From Fall River News.)

Testimony of Mrs. J. Clouth, of Fall River.

I was diseased with an aggravated form of Catarrh ten years, and in consequence my eyes became affected in December last, and were so sore until I could not go about without being led. Was under the care of several doctors and at the Boston Infirmary, but got no help until I consulted Dr. Carpenter at the Mount Hope House, April 24. Under his treatment I began to improve immediately, and now I consider myself cured. I think everyone should know there is a physician in Fall River who can cure such diseases. As I am my very well known Fall River lady, I may at liberty to refer to W. Eeat, Esq., No. 1 Ferry street, whose wife when I was in a state of blindness and deafness I was cured.
